

June 18, 2012

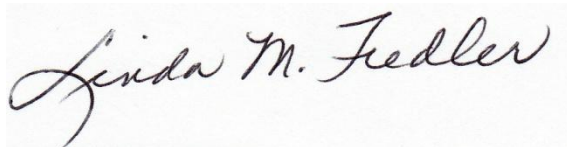

Dear Quilter,

Camelia Elliott is a designer, author, and quiltmaker who is interested in expanding the scope of her quilting activities beyond the local area. I have known Camelia for several years, and know her to be a talented designer and quiltmaker. She has a line of patterns that she has designed which have a wide appeal to quiltmakers. Her original quilts are well designed, and beautifully executed. She is skilled in both basic and advanced quilting techniques and incorporates them into her quilts, which have won many awards.

Camelia has worked part time in the field of quilting for several years by designing and selling her patterns, writing, teaching, and starting and running a local quilt retreat which has been quite successful. Now she is ready to expand her activities full time.

Thank you for considering Camelia Elliott in your future planning of events.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Linda M. Fiedler". The signature is written in black ink on a light-colored background.

Linda M. Fiedler